Antonino Cardillo Architect

| By Alina Cabral

Antonino Cardillo architect is an architecture and urban design practice based in Rome and active worldwide. A born and bred Sicilian, Mr. Cardillo biggest inspiration is history. He believes that without knowledge of the past, it is nearly impossible to build for the present.

He was selected as one of the thirty best new young architects from around the world in 2009 Wallpaper magazine Architectural Directory. Mr. Cardillo's design works are exhibited at 4th International Architecture Biennale of Rotterdam, and one of his best projects was selected as one of the top ten architectural wonders of 2008 by USA's Almanac of Architecture & Design 2009.

Some of Cardillo's published projects that had met with great critical success includes: "Purple House", "Nomura 24 House", "House of Twelve", "House of Convexities", Ellipse 1501 House", "Sergio Rossi Ephemeral Store" and the "Concrete Moon House" amongst others.

When it comes to unique and creative design, no matter where you are, Antonino Cardillo is the person to go to. It is not only his designs that will please us, but how he designs it to make it become whole.*
